milestones

DONATE LIFE NORTHWEST
Reflecting back over 35 years, many events and individuals have made Donate Life Northwest what we are today. We share and recognize specific accomplishments that serve as milestones, marking the passage of time and indicating the beginning of a new phase. Please take a moment to review many of the milestones we are celebrating in this report.

Donate Life Northwest’s beginning (then Oregon Donor Program) can be compared to a child’s infancy when the foundation was laid to form collaborations and community partnerships. As we entered our adolescent years, we gained independence, becoming a registered nonprofit organization, hiring staff and establishing a board of directors. Today, in our adult years, we are striving to create a positive culture of donation to uphold our mission to save and enhance lives through the promotion of organ, eye and tissue donation. Knowing that 70% of drivers have joined the donor registry gives us reason to celebrate and inspiration to develop future campaigns to register others.

Our 35th anniversary offers an opportunity for reflection. Past generations give our current leadership perspective and motivation. We have built a track record of providing service to Oregon and Southwest Washington through proven results and have established community trust and lasting collaborations that leverage our resources.

The successes of 2009-2010 include a growing influence with 15-29 year olds, realizing a 163% increase in registrations, and launching GoRecycleYourself.com, accounting for 57% of online registrations. DMV continues to be the primary avenue for people to join the registry with 120,362 new registrations last year.

We all know how important milestones can be in life. Some are met with great fanfare and celebration, while others quietly come and go. On behalf of the Board of Directors and staff, thank you for sharing our vision. We hope you will reinvest and help us create new milestones by advocating, volunteering and contributing financially in our next 35 years.

Achievements

Donate Life Northwest programs educating the general public about donation and transplantation certainly have matured over 35 years, and thanks to our generous contributors, there’s no slowing down in sight. This year 2,200 volunteer hours valued at $54,800 continued to form the core of many program accomplishments.

STUDENT OUTREACH
- 28,000 15-22 year olds reached through in-class presentations, blood drives and student projects.
- The GoRecycleYourself campaign with its catchy Scalpel Pal game now accounts for 57% of all online registrations monthly in Oregon.
- 163% increase in registrations among 17-19 year old drivers and 52.2% among 20-22 year old drivers.

DMV OUTREACH
- 120,362 new registrations in Oregon. The primary avenue for people to sign up on the donor registry continues to be the Department of Motor Vehicles.
- Donate Life Northwest’s “D” campaign more than DOUBLED the number of people adding a donor code when renewing their driver’s license.
- Over 65% of the driving population registered as organ, eye and tissue donors, ranking Oregon and Washington among the top six states for donor registrations.

HISPANIC OUTREACH
- The grassroots program reached 458,500 people, four times the previous year’s total, through media, outreach events and email blasts.
- 10 new Spanish speaking volunteers convey the importance of signing up on the registry.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH
- 16,530 reached throughout Oregon and SW Washington, educating and inspiring people to join the donor registry at health fairs, quilt displays and community events in businesses and faith groups.
- Expanding virally into cyberland, 860 Facebook fans and 3,052 YouTube uploads represent Donate Life Northwest’s growing outreach through social media.

1969 lorraine mattos 41 year milestone kidney recipient

Since her kidney transplant in 1969, Lorraine has lived a full and active life enjoying a teaching career and time to play tennis, hike, ski, knit, read and travel the world. She remembers being released from the hospital in record time just two weeks after her surgery and having a rosy color return to her cheeks. Lorraine reflects, “I am a very positive person and have taken the good and bad in my life in stride knowing if it’s a bad time, good times are coming… and they have!” Lorraine celebrated her 30th and 40th transplant anniversary with dancing, cake, ice cream and big banners! 1986 don shirilla 24 year milestone heart recipient

Incredibly, just 13 days after learning he needed a new heart in 1986, Don received a transplant. It took most of his recovery to comprehend that he actually had someone else’s heart in his body. “Little did I realize 24 years later, I would still be alive and kicking in 2010,” says Don. “I used to be a runner and had finished a marathon six months before my transplant. There have been many challenges but they are all a small price to pay for a second chance at life.” Don’s transplant anniversaries bring him happy memories, as he reflects how his transplant has changed his outlook in so many ways. It helped him build stronger relationships with family and friends. “It taught us all to appreciate the good things we have.”

Delores donated a kidney to her son Lee ten years ago. “I wanted to donate the day he became sick,” says Delores. He was reluctant to accept such generosity, but after a year on dialysis he told his mom that if she was still willing, he would gladly accept her gift of a second chance at life. The surgery went off without a hitch, and Delores recalls immediately noticing the healthy color returning to Lee’s face. Delores has been free of any complications associated with the donation, and her entire family has been positively affected. They spread the word about the miracle of donation and transplantation, volunteer for Donate Life Northwest and participate in the U.S. Transplant Games.

2003  sandy metheany
7 year milestone  double lung recipient

Within six months of her double lung transplant in 2003 Sandy felt like a new person. She remembers two days after leaving the hospital being able to take a long walk with little effort, something she hadn’t done in years. Since her transplant, Sandy has witnessed the birth of her three grandchildren. “Growing up I never thought I would live long enough to get married, let alone have grandchildren,” she says. “There is very little I cannot do or at least try.” Thanks to her donor, Sandy goes fishing, camping and is active with her church where she sings in the choir. Every year near her anniversary, Sandy marks the occasion with a potluck with friends who helped her during her illness.

2005  Jim & Lucille Burke  donor family members
milestone: meeting evan’s recipients

As a donor family, the Burkes were eager to hear from their son Evan’s recipients. Since Evan’s death in 2005, they have gradually met one after another. Evan’s mom Lucille sees them as “bonus family members.” This year marks a milestone for the Burkes as they are in contact with all of Evan’s organ and cornea recipients.

Evan’s father Jim reflects, “Meeting recipients was remarkable in the healing process – it feels like the circle is complete.” Evan’s family is grateful he was able to help other people even in his death – it gives them some peace knowing incredible good was able to come from their tragedy.

2007  lynda myers
3 year milestone  double cornea recipient

Lynda, a double cornea recipient in 2007, suffered from Fuchs Dystrophy. In the years leading up to her transplants, her sight began deteriorating at an accelerated rate. Simple things we take for granted became exceedingly difficult or nearly impossible for Lynda. “I had many funny and embarrassing moments like not recognizing people when they were just a few feet away or falling down in public because I didn’t see a curb or steps.” Lynda rejoices, “Today, I have my old life back! I see clearly and am able to drive to work, clean my house, babysit my grandchildren and enjoy activities with family and friends.” Lynda celebrates her transplants every day and says a prayer of gratitude to the two people who have blessed her with the precious gift of sight. “My promise to them is that I will live well; I will live better, kinder and will do everything in my power to honor their gifts and pay it forward. That has been the biggest change in my life!”

2007  Oregon Donor Program gets a brand update, aligning its visual look and messaging more closely with Donate Life America. Donor registrations reach 1,420,060.

2008  Oregon Donor Program volunteers gave over 952 hours reaching over 130,000 people and 100,000 potential organ donors walked away with a donor card.

2009  kathy pennington
1 year milestone  living kidney donor

Kathy, an avid runner and athlete, slowed her pace to donate a kidney to her mom one year ago. Despite her dislike of needles and the need for numerous medical appointments, she wanted to give her mom a second chance. Kathy wanted to be in the best physical shape possible prior to surgery. To reach that goal she ran a marathon, four half-marathons, two relays and eight triathlons. She knew she would have to take it relatively easy after the surgery. However it wasn’t long before she started Pilates and with persistence, Kathy was back to running under a 10-minute mile.

2009  Oregon Donor Program moved from its 880-square-foot office space at 2525 SW Third Ave. to a spacious 2,700-square-foot location at 2525 sW First Ave.

2009  UNOS launches DonorNet, an Internet-based system in which organ procurement coordinators send out offers of newly donated organs to transplant hospitals with compatible candidates.

2009  Oregon’s revised anatomical gift act allows drivers 15-17 to add a “D” on their drivers permit or license to indicate their wishes.

2009  Oregon’s donor registry is launched with public events and media fanfare. Name is changed from Oregon Donor Program to Donate Life Northwest.

2010  Donate Life Northwest celebrates its 35th anniversary. Executive Director Mary Jane Hunt celebrates her 25th anniversary with the organization. Donor registrations reach 2,083,000.
